ALUMINIUM PACKAGING

Sustainability and new challenges

More and more consumers are paying attention to sustainability, packaging and food waste.

'Reduce, Reuse and Recycle' is the motto.

"Reduce" means minimising the amount of energy consumption and waste we produce.

"Reuse" stands for the repetitive use of an object.

"Recycle" stands for the possibility of putting a previously used product back on the market through proper recycling.

■ Aluminium containers are 100% recyclable, infinitely!

■ Through recycling, aluminium is transformed into new material without losing its properties.

■ Aluminium recycling allows energy savings of over 95% compared to production from raw material.

ALUMINIUM, FOOD DELIVERY & TAKE-AWAY

Aluminium trays protect food from light, moisture and contaminants while preserving taste and aroma. Thanks to these characteristics, they are an excellent solution for cold and hot take-away food.

The development of food delivery and take-away, the spread of new technologies and consumption habits have led to a transformation of packaging: now no longer a mere food container, but an independent product capable of attracting and appealing to the buyer on its own.

Deloitte research has shown that after the end of the health emergency around 37% of people will increase their take-away/delivery consumption while 40% will maintain the same consumption levels.

ALUMINIUM CONTAINERS & MICROWAVE

All aluminium containers can be used in the microwave by following very simple instructions.

Remove lid from aluminium tray

Fill most of the container with food

Place the tray in the centre of the microwave oven plate

Keep the container away from the microwave side walls

Place one container at a time inside the microwave
